AGC CHAPTER LEADERS MEET IN WASHINGTON

AGC of America chapter leaders, including CAWV Senior Vice President Dan Cooperrider, WV Paving, Inc., Dunbar, and CAWV Vice President C.R. Neighborgall, The Neighborgall Construction Company, Huntington, joined chapter leaders in Washington, D.C. this week to discuss best practices and to meet with Congress to address AGC's top legislative issues. The annual AGC National and Chapter Leadership Conference included speakers from Capitol Hill and breakout sessions to discuss the industry's most pressing issues, including federal initiatives for infrastructure funding, multi-employer pension plan reform, environmental regulatory issues and immigration reform.

Speakers included Charlie Cook, editor and publisher of The Cook Political Report, who handicapped House and Senate races, Rep. Chris Gibson, R-NY, who spoke on a bi-partisan bill to provide funding for infrastructure investment, and Dr. Edward Gordon, a noted author of Future Jobs: Solving the Employment and Skills Crisis. The chapter leaders also reviewed best practices for membership retention, state infrastructure initiatives, and BIM and LEAN curriculum. Much time was spent on determining how to develop future construction workforces. CAWV officers also attended a number of breakout sessions with their counterparts from other states.

TANK REGISTRATION DEADLINE OCTOBER 1

Owners of above ground storage tanks continued to register with the state Department of Environmental Protection in order to meet the October 1 deadline. DEP officials said there were 45,452 tanks registered. Another 1,174 were in the process of registering. A CAWV member who has five tanks reported it took him one and a half hours to register one tank. Early in the process it was anticipated as many as 70,000 to 80,000 tanks would need to be registered with the state and originally all of them needed to be inspected by a certified professional. An adjustment by the Tomblin administration eased the inspection requirement and divided the tanks into three different categories depending on whether they were in a zone considered critical and a potential threat to a drinking water source. The draft interpretive rule for SB 373 is out for public comment through Oct. 9, the same day as a 6:30 p.m. public hearing is scheduled at DEP headquarters in Kanawha City. Comments on both drafts can be emailed to WVDEPtankrules@wv.gov or mailed to: West Virginia Department of Environmental Protection – Public Information Office, AST Emergency Rule Comments or AST Interpretive Rule Comments, 601 57th Street SE, Charleston, WV 25304.

WV CONSTRUCTION NEWS ON MEMBERS' DESK

The July/August issue of West Virginia Construction News should have arrived on members' desks this week. Inside see the cover story on 2013-2014 CAWV President Phillip L. Weser, the 2014-2015 CAWV Board of Directors, a recap on the 2014 CAWV Annual Meeting, and several CAWV members recognized as some of West Virginia's top exporters. Click here to view West

JASON PIZATELLA NAMED ACTING ADMINISTRATION SECRETARY

Gov. Earl Ray Tomblin announced Tuesday he's appointed Fairmont native Jason Pizatella as Acting Secretary of Administration. Pizatella has been Tomblin's deputy chief of staff. "Jason has been an integral part of my team and has earned the trust and respect of the Legislature and leaders from across the state. I'm confident Jason will do well in this new position, and I look forward to working with him in this new role," Gov. Tomblin said in a news release. Former acting secretary Ross Taylor is returning to his role as comptroller in the state Division of Finance. Pizatella also served as chairman of the Governor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Highways and the WV Parkways Authority.

CAWV EDUCATION COMMITTEE MEETING TO MEET OCTOBER 8

CAWV Education Chairman Matthew Bourne, March-Westin Company, has scheduled a meeting of the CAWV Education Committee for 3:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 8, at the CAWV headquarters. The committee will focus on developing future topics for the CAWV/ BrickStreet webinar series. Members will also discuss topics and speakers for seminars and educational opportunities at EXPO. For more information or to suggest topics for webinars or seminars, please contact Pat McDonald at pmcdonald@cawv.org or (304) 342-1166.

YOUNG CONTRACTORS COMMITTEE MEETING – OCTOBER 8

It's time once again to get together for the Young Contractors' Committee annual planning session. Chairman Josh Booth will hold the event on Wednesday, October 8, from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. at Buffalo Wild Wings located at 2501 Mountaineer Boulevard at the Southridge Shopping Center in Charleston. The meeting will be held in the private room in the restaurant. "This is a great time to bring new faces from your companies whom you see becoming more involved in the CAWV and the industry," said Chairman Booth. "YCC is a great networking and educational opportunity for young men and women in the association." Appetizers and drinks will be provided in exchange for your good ideas for this year's social events, education training, and volunteer work. Please email Pat McDonald at pmcdonald@cawv.org by October 6 if you plan to attend or call (304) 342-1166.

YCC TO HOST TOYS FOR TOTS GOLF SCRAMBLE - OCTOBER 31

The Young Contractors Committee will host the second annual Toys For Tots fall golf scramble on Friday, October 31, at 10:00 a.m. at Berry Hills Country Club, Charleston. YCC Chairman Josh Booth would like to invite all members to participate regardless of age (limit 72 total golfers). In addition to the registration fee of $85, box lunch and beverages included, members are asked to bring an unwrapped toy to benefit Toys For Tots. A registration form is attached to this week's Newsletter. Sponsors are also needed for the event and a sponsorship form is also included in this week's newsletter. For additional information, contact Pat McDonald at (304) 342-1166 or pmcdonald@cawv.org.

CARRICO APPOINTED STATE FIRE MARSHAL

The West Virginia Fire Commission named Anthony Carrico, 46, state fire marshal Monday. He has been serving as acting state fire marshal since Sterling Lewis Jr. retired in April 2013. A Scott High School graduate, Carrico attended West Virginia University and graduated in 1990 with a bachelor's degree in political science and history. He was looking for a full-time job when he saw a job posting for the State Fire Marshal's Office. He started with the agency in July 1992. "It matched my credentials (and I) thought it would be interesting to see what it was all about and I haven't left," Carrico said. He said working in the fire marshal's office is different than fire service as the marshal's office focuses more on prevention through fire and building codes and reviewing architectural plans and building inspections. In the fire service the goal is suppression and education. "I realized very quickly that it was vitally important to the citizens of this state that this function continues and is available," he said of the fire marshal's office.

Hearing Safety

Noise is unwanted sound. It can have different effects on you. Psychological effects mean that noise can startle you, annoy you, and disrupt your concentration. Noise can interfere with your communications when you are talking to someone. As a consequence, it interferes with your job performance and your safety. Physiological effects mean that you can lose your hearing. Noise can cause pain and even nausea when the exposure is severe. Ear protectors, in effect, reduce noise levels at the inner ear. Ear protection is particularly important when noise exposures cannot be controlled adequately by environmental changes. Ear protectors may be either ear plugs or ear muffs.

Many times workers resist wearing hearing protection more than any other type of personal equipment. One of the most common reasons that they give is that they don't think they really need it. But hearing loss is so gradual, even in intense exposures, that by the time you realize that you can't hear as well as you used to, the damage has been done and can't be reversed. Another common reason workers give for not wearing hearing protectors is that they are uncomfortable. Evidence of this attitude can be found in such practices as springing muffs so they don't seal against the head, clipping off the inner end of plugs and leaving only the outer end tab to fool the supervisor, and indifferent molding and insertion of malleable-type plug materials. Good protection depends on a good seal between the surface of the skin and the surface of the ear protector. A very small leak can destroy the effectiveness of the protection. Protectors have a tendency to work loose as a result of talking, chewing, etc., and they must be resealed from time to time during the workday. Some initial discomfort is sometimes experienced in obtaining a good seal.

There will be no adverse reactions as a result of the use of ear protectors if they are kept reasonably clean. Ear plugs should be made of soft material such as neoprene, as hard fixed material can injure the canal. Skin irritations, injured ear drums, or other harmful reactions are exceedingly rare. A properly designed, well-fitted and clear ear protector will cause no more difficulty than a pair of safety goggles. The use of ear protection will not make it more difficult to understand speech or to hear warning signals when worn in a noisy environment. Most of the available ear protectors, when correctly fitted, provide about the same amount of protection. The best ear protector, therefore, is the one that you can wear properly.

Three factors may be used to determine the level of noise:

1. If it is necessary for you to speak in a very loud noise or shout directly into the ear of a person in order to be understood, it is likely that the exposure limit for noise is being exceeded.
2. If you have heard noises and ringing noises in your ears at the end of the work day, you are being exposed to too much noise.
3. If speech or music sounds muffled to you after leaving work, but sounds fairly clear in the morning when you return to work, there is no doubt about your being exposed to noise levels that can eventually cause a partial loss of hearing that can be permanent.

If any of these conditions exist, a safety professional, using a sound level meter, should measure the noise level at various work areas. They can then determine whether the exposure is great enough to require personal protection.

FUNDING WOULD CONNECT 200 ALUM CREEK HOUSES TO WATER SYSTEM

About 200 households in Alum Creek in Kanawha County that now rely on well water or hauling in water are one step closer to getting connected to West Virginia American Water Company's system after Rep. Shelley Moore Capito announced $225,000 in federal funding for the project on Wednesday. The money will fund the project's engineering design, which will take three to five months, and will determine things like what size and kind of pipes will be used and how many booster stations will be needed. After the design is done, it will take about $3.5 million more to actually build and install the project, said Kent Carper, president of the Kanawha County Commission. While the initial phase of the project uses federal dollars, latter stages will likely be jointly funded by federal money and Kanawha County. The money comes from a section of the federal Water Resources Development Act that allocates money for water and sewer projects. "It is hard to believe that there are still areas of the country, and certainly, West Virginia, where you don't have access to clean drinking water," Capito, R-W.Va., said.

The Army Corps of Engineers identified and approved the project as one worthy of funding, but the engineering will be carried out by Kanawha County in conjunction with West Virginia American. Carper said he expected that by the end of the year they would be announcing funding to complete the project, but did not offer more specifics. County Commissioner Hoppy Shores estimated that the entire project would be done in about a year. The project will bring miles of pipe to Alum Creek and Olcott between Corridor G and Kanawha State Forest, primarily along Brounland Road. Capito's office estimated that 204 households would be newly linked to the water system, while West Virginia American put the number at 186. Carper estimated that at least 600 to 700 people live in those houses.

CONGRESS PASSES CONTINUING RESOLUTION FOR CLEAN WATER AND SAFE DRINKING WATER SRFS

Both the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate passed the "Continuing Resolution of 2015" which authorizes appropriations for federal Fiscal Year 2015 through December 11, 2014. The measure will provide funds for all federal programs at the federal FY 2014 levels. This is good news for the Clean Water and Drinking Water SRF construction programs.

Leading up to Congressional action to pass the Continuing Resolution of 2015, the House Appropriations Committee and the Obama Administration set 2015 federal funding levels for Clean Water SRF at $1.018 billion and Safe Drinking Water SRF at $757 million. For federal FY 2014 Clean Water SRF was capitalized at $1.448 billion and the Safe Drinking Water SRF was funded at $906 million. The House and the Obama Administration's proposal will result in funding cuts of $430 million (29.69%) to the Clean Water SRF and $150 million (16.55%) to the Safe Drinking Water SRF.

Following the House Appropriations Committee's actions, the Senate Appropriations Committee released its federal FY 2015 Interior Appropriations bill. The Senate measure restores full funding for the Clean Water SRF at $1.448 billion and Safe Drinking Water SRF at $906 million. As in previous years, the Senate's annual appropriations have prevailed.

AS NEW FEDERAL FISCAL YEAR BEGINS, THE CLOCK TICKS TOWARD ANOTHER HIGHWAY TRUST FUND CRISIS

With October 1 marking the beginning of fiscal year 2015, the 31-member organization Transportation Construction Coalition (TCC) urged Congress to find a way to pay for, and pass, a new long-term surface transportation measure as soon as possible. They cautioned that failure to act would lead to another self-imposed funding crisis that would undermine vital road, highway and transit repairs. "We worked hard to build broad consensus within a deeply-divided Congress for investing in the nation's aging roads, bridges and transit systems," said Stephen E. Sandherr, the chief executive officer of the Associated General Contractors of America and the Coalition's co-chair. "Members of Congress can either take advantage of that momentum or add transportation funding back to an already-long list of self-created crises threatening our economic vitality."

Coalition officials noted that in July, despite overall partisan gridlock, Congress overwhelmingly extended authorization for the surface transportation program and enacted a temporary funding patch for the Highway Trust Fund (HTF). That patch ensures federal highway, bridge and transit investments will continue through next May. However, it was the fifth time in the past seven years Congress took that approach, requiring nearly $65 billion in supplemental funding to avoid significant cuts to transportation investments. On average, the HTF provides 52 percent of the funding for highway and bridge capital investments made by nation's state transportation departments each year, Coalition officials added.

"Congress needs to 'keep the horse before the cart' and address the trust fund's long-term revenue problem as was done in the 1997 and 2004 tax bills. Then it can develop and properly fund a six-year program bill early in 2015," TCC Co-chair Pete Ruane, president and CEO of the American Road & Transportation Builders Association, says. "And 'status-quo' funding levels would simply perpetuate worsening traffic congestion and the inadequate physical condition of the nation's highway and transit network." The latest Congressional Budget Office projections indicate Congress will need to identify an additional $7 billion just to preserve highway and transit funding for the last four months of fiscal year 2015. Federal data also show maintaining current program funding beyond 2015 will require an average of $16 billion in additional revenues each year. That, Coalition officials point out, is the revenue equivalent of a 10-cent increase in the federal gas tax.

Despite widespread desire for a multi-year federal surface transportation program reauthorization bill to boost economic competitiveness and job creation, such legislation cannot move forward until a long-term transportation funding solution is in place. Coalition officials are urging Congress to identify and pass a funding HTF revenue fix to ensure Americans and the U.S. economy continue to benefit from a world class transportation network.

DOT RELEASES DBE RULE REVISIONS

US Department of Transportation (DOT) officially released a final rule that amended its disadvantaged business enterprise utilization (DBE) rules. The new rules were first proposed in September 2012 and, while considered by DOT to be “minor” adjustments, there are some significant changes that will significantly impact the highway construction industry. Among the changes originally proposed by DOT was a requirement that prime contractors on Federal-aid highway contracts with DBE goals would have to submit with their bid a list of all DBE subcontractors to be used on the project, including the scope of work to be performed, the value of the subcontract and a letter from the DBE verifying these facts. In addition, if the prime contractor did not meet the contract goal, information on all quotes from both DBE and non-DBE subcontractors would have to be submitted with the bid to demonstrate “good faith efforts.” AGC objected vocally to these proposed changes, submitted extensive written comments for the record in 2012, provided additional comments in 2013, participated in a stakeholder listening session and held several meetings with top DOT officials to explain the real world impact of these changes if adopted. AGC and ARTBA members also responded and submitted over 100 letters on the proposal.

The final rule acquiesced to AGC’s and ARTBA’s opposition and amended the requirement to submit DBE commitments with the bid and instead allows a 7 day window following bid opening for the apparent low bidder to submit the list of proposed DBE subcontractors that will be used on the project. This time limit will be reduced to 5 days in January 2017. There are numerous changes in other sections of the DBE Utilizational rules. DOT has provided a summary of the rule changes, which is available here.
